CHINWE ORIE

'23-'24 VICE PRESIDENT

What's happening y'all! My name is Chinwe Orie. A Nigerian born and bred in New Orleans, community, faith and creativity are three of the biggest pillars of my life. I very much enjoy playing music, dancing, cooking fitness, sports, and the spirit of trying new things. What's most important to me, though, is community. I am a Senior Product Development Engineer at Johnson & Johnson (Ethicon) and although I am here in Cincinnati for work as an engineer, what drew me in further is my heart for positively impacting the community – which happens to be part of NSBE's mission. As your VP, my job is to ensure that we have a community of members who have their voices heard and are connected in the Cincinnati community – personally and professionally. Fo' Solid, Fo' Life.
